

“Most Yukoners are respectful of Grossinger’s openmindedness. And for those who aren’t, he doesn’t spare much time.”

REVISED EDITION NAHGANNE Tales of the Northern Sasquatch

BY RED GROSSINGER

Foreword: Raymond Yakeleya

Illustrations: Rich Thérout

A NEW EDITION! New to this edition is a revised preface, a new section of Sasquatch sightings, signs, and occurrences, and new photos of footprints and other evidence.

For as long as humans have been around the North, the activities of bipedal, forest-dwelling, hirsute hominoid entities have been observed in many places, but only a few people have taken the time to share their stories of coming in contact with them. This book presents activities occurring in the North such as sightings, strange vocals, the discovery of large human-like footprints, strange animal reaction, and weird tree events. Embedded within are snippets of history and insights into the First Nation Peoples of the North. Author Red Grossinger takes on the role of investigator, meticulously analysing the reports he has received, providing readers with detailed accounts of these intriguing encounters and phenomena.

ABOUT RED GROSSINGER

Red Grossinger is a Huron Métis born and raised in Quebec. He is a decorated military officer, now retired from the Canadian Army after 30 years of service with NATO and the UN around the world. Red is an avid outdoorsman and an open-minded Sasquatch enthusiast who has been roving about the Yukon since 1980. Red has acquired an intimate knowledge of the North, which he has used to analyze the many Sasquatch-related reports presented in this book.
